

THE CRUCIBLE

Fall Drama 2007

November 16th, 17th, 18th

The year is 1953 and Joe McCarthy is beginning his crusade against communism and Arthur Miller in response to this movement of McCarthyism decided to expose McCarthy's witch hunt by writing a play set during the Salem witch trials of 1692. His play was called THE CRUCIBLE and this fall it came to the Stepinac stage complete with all its puritan values. One of Stepinac's best performances to date, THE CRUCIBLE captivated audiences with its story of love, lust, and betrayal.
